Co-Presented with 350 Colorado

Action 1: LEARN MORE

350 Colorado is a grassroots movement working to build a fossil-free future powered by 100% renewable energy. We empower communities across Colorado to join together to fight for environmental justice. We are an independent state affiliate of the international environmental organization 350.org. Together, 350 is organizing around the world to end the use of fossil fuels and secure a just transition to renewable energy.

Through our volunteer-led teams, we use a variety of tactics, such as legislation and direct action, to take on the climate crisis. No matter what level of commitment you're ready to take, there is a place for you in our movement! You can donate, sign petitions, join a local team, attend educational events, be trained to be an organizer in your community, and more.

Your contribution helps fight harmful oil and gas projects, advocate for more sustainable policies, and empower communities to take action. Every dollar fuels grassroots efforts to create a cleaner, healthier future for Colorado. Be part of the solution!
